Municipalities want Half Liquor Profits

EDMONTON—Mayor H. J. Montgomery, of Wetaskiwin and ex-Adm. T. J. O'Connell, of Edmonton, representing the Union of Alberta municipalities want a strong plea for more equitable division of provincial taxation revenue with the Urban municipalities of the province in giving evidence before the special committee of taxation at the legislative buildings.

The claim was registered in the most convincing terms that the present unfair and heavy levy on the towns and cities should either be lifted by the Alberta government, or the Urban centers should be given a share of the revenue. Special protest was made against the government taking the whole of the supplementary revenue tax, the amusement tax and the wild land tax.

Mayor Montgomery, president of the Union, pointed out to the commission how the government had been invading the municipal field of taxation without any effort being made to give the municipal authorities a share of the revenue. The Union of municipalities had taken the stand at the last convention that some of the taxes should be shelved, among them being the supplementary revenue tax, it being held that the municipality alone should have the right to impose a last tax.

Half of Liquor Profits
Mr. Montgomery asked that the municipalities be given fifty per cent. of the net liquor profits in the event of the supplementary revenue tax being retained. He protested further against the government requiring municipalities to shoulder the whole cost of building main highways through their boundaries.

The delegates agreed that motor license fees and gasoline taxes be earmarked for highway construction, with the auto license reduced to a nominal fee and the amusement levy raised to a higher level to make up the difference.

The Unshared Increment
Mr. O'Connell appealed for a sharing of the unshared increment tax with the cities and towns, and for the abolition of the restaurant tax. He thought the amusement tax should go entirely to the urban centers and that the wild lands tax should be done away with. He further urged that tax collections should be handled through one authority to reduce cost and local complications.

Among other suggestions was that the mothers' allowance fund should be raised entirely from provincial sources.

CANADIAN CO-OPERATIVE LEAGUE MEETS

The congress of the Canadian Co-operative league with representatives from all parts of Canada, was held at the parliament buildings, Edmonton, during the past week. Co-operative merchandising in all its phases was discussed at the convention. Outside visitors at the congress included Messrs Chas. T. Darch, John Pomeroy, J. G. Alexander, of the Co-operative wholesale society of England, and John Walker of Illinois, who added considerably to the debate held during the session of the congress.

Strathmore Scouts Enjoy Camp

FIRST STRATHMORE TROOP BOY SCOUTS

Nine scouts and Wolf Cubs, under the supervision of Scoutmaster Fred J. Dunn, are having a real time in their camp about half a mile east of the Carleton bridge. All are in the best of health, and so far there has been no accidents.

Everybody in camp is able to eat three large meals each day, and the menu is as varied as it can be made when all the cooking is done outdoors. The weather has not been so favorable as it might have been, but all have been able to keep smiling in spite of the severe windstorm of Friday night, and the thunder and rainstorm of Saturday night.

At the time of writing the sky is overcast, but it is to be hoped that any rain will blow over.

The troop are greatly indebted to Mr. T. R. Hughes for the use of a truck to take the troop and their outfit to the camping ground, and also to Guy Melvin for acting as driver.

Games, swimming, and fishing are some of the recreations at the camp, as well as instruction in camp cooking, woodcraft and scouting generally. Visitors are welcome any time and they will have an opportunity of sampling the food cooked for the camp.

Today the visitors were very numerous, and the supply of fish almost proved inadequate at supper time. However, there was enough to go around. A heavy shower sent them home early.

The troop will return home on Sunday or Monday.

Alberta Government Crop Report

Issued by the Department of Agriculture.

EDMONTON, Alta.—The weather throughout the province has been disappointingly hot and dry since the last crop report was issued two weeks ago, broken only in a few localities by brief showers, which, in one or two cases have been heavy enough to be of some aid in the filling process of the wheat crop. The general effect of the continuance of the hot weather with lack of moisture has been to retard the filling process, and will result in the reduction of quality and yield, but only to a limited extent. The weather is now cool and somewhat showery, which will be an aid to later crops.

Generally speaking the wheat crop situation is fairly satisfactory, and now that the critical stage has been passed, the statement may be made with more or less assurance that there will be a good average crop of this grain, probably as large and possibly larger than last year. There can be no definite estimate, however, of the extent of the effect of the hot, dry weather until the separators are at work and the actual shrinkage which has taken place becomes known in the yields obtained. Throughout most of the province the grain is believed to have stood the strain well, and especially in this case with that on summerfall and breaking. The area of good crop is larger than last year, so that the general conclusion which may be arrived at for the present is that the wheat yield will be up to last year's total, if not exceeding it. In the areas which have suffered from a continued lack of moisture, however, notably the south-eastern section, and the belt from Edmonton east and north-east, the crop will be very light and in certain parts of this territory some ten per cent. of the crop will not be the rest of it yielding from five bushels upward. The oats and barley crop will be fairly light, owing to lack of moisture in the latter part of the season.

Many parts of the province, however, report excellent stands of wheat. The district from Calgary north to Lethbridge and Macleod and Lebogardie, the south-western corner, and some portions of the eastern section of the province, report very good prospects. In the irrigated sections good yields will be obtained. The outstanding fact this year is that while some districts which have had some good crops in the past, are light, others which have experienced light crops during the past few years, have excellent prospects this year.

Harvesting of wheat has commenced in the south-east and in one or two other parts of the province, including Peace River, where prospects are good. Cutting will not be general, however, in the province until next week.

RICH STRIKE AT NARROW LAKE

A spectacular discovery in the vicinity of Narrow Lake, some 30 to 35 miles from Edmonton, has been the District of Patricia is reported by Jack Lindsay, who has just come out from the district, showing samples of two gold which are said to render the find among the most important discoveries in recent years.

Rocking the Boat of State

DAIRY COUNCIL FOR PROVINCE

Formation of a permanent advisory dairy council for the province was announced by Hon. Geo. Hensley, minister of Agriculture. The new organization will be representative of all the various interests of the dairy industry. The object of the minister in the formation of such a council is to get all the interests together in a round-table conference with the minister to discuss problems common to the dairy industry.

This industry is considered to be one of the most important branches of agriculture, and the minister feels that by securing the advice and co-operation of the representative men in the industry, including producers, manufacturers and distributors, that the best interests of the entire industry will be served.

DANISH VISITOR

A visitor to Alberta the past week was S. Rasmussen, agricultural adviser to the Danish government, who is attached to the Danish legation at Washington, D.C. Mr. Rasmussen is making his first visit to the Canadian west and is studying general agricultural conditions and particularly the swine industry.

the failure to obtain royal assent to the legislation dealing with rural credits, the Hudson's Bay Railway, the Campbell Grain Act amendment, revaluation of soldiers' settlers' land and other measures of great interest to agriculture.

An Irresponsible Mob

The Progressive, however, balance of power between the two, old parties, were the sole instigators of these kaleidoscopic events, and must, consequently, assume the full responsibility for the complete justification of all the beneficial legislation affecting the farmer which had been duly passed by the two houses and was ready for the governor's signature. At first sight one would characterize such a procedure as an act of madness or wanton disregard of the best interests of their constituents. Public statements have been issued by such a band of Progressive leaders purporting to explain their actions in this national crisis.

The duly elected official leader, apparently resigning in utter disgust. One who appreciates his unwillingness to "lead" an irresponsible mob unable to accept anything or to co-operate with the government. Mr. Garland, or "ginger group" fame, goes into long, petty-dogging amateur dissertation on constitutional law and procedure, which the readers of the Progressive are interested in to their alarming degree. Mr. Lucas has his own idea of how he should vote and so forth.

The Favorable Strategic Position

That the thinking element amongst western farmers is sick and tired of the antics of their Progressive representatives at Ottawa, may be accepted as a forgone conclusion. It is a safe conjecture that the composition of the recently dissolved Parliament was such that the farmers can never hope to occupy a more favorable strategic position than they enjoyed when the Progressive government was in power. Mr. Lucas has everything in their own hands and it is in a position to enforce their reasonable views. All this has been highly sacrificed, and the administration of this country is thrown into chaos simply because the Progressives did not know the meaning of the words loyalty and co-operation.

No Party Cohezion

What about the future? Will the western farmer in the forthcoming election again give support to a recalled party without any cohesion or sense of responsibility, split up into numerous groups and completely lacking in the ability to constitute a ship? It may be doubted. The "Progressive" cause has apparently received a serious setback from which it may never recover. That the voters of Canada will approach the Federal elections with a firm determination to end officially the "third party" menace, may be taken for granted. It may also seem concluded, that such one of the ex-members could back for Progressive re-nomination will be called upon for a better explanation of his recent conduct than any that has so far been offered.

Weekly Crop Report

WINNIPEG, Aug. 9.—Harvesting is fairly general in Manitoba with returns up to expectations, according to the weather and crop report issued this morning by the Canadian Pacific Agricultural Department. Average yields are indicated from Saskatchewan and Alberta. Light showers in heavy rains are reported from Manitoba, but a further precipitation will benefit the oat and barley crop now ripening. Cutting of wheat is now fairly general and returns from threshing are up to expectations and are satisfying well. There is no evidence of any serious damage by rust. A survey of the situation indicates a good average crop of wheat and oats with barley a fair one, the heavier grain yields being in the southern part of the province.

Damage from hail occurred with varying losses from twenty-five to one hundred per cent in Brownlee, Keeler, Asquith and Regina districts in the province of Saskatchewan, but some of this may recover. Cutting of wheat and barley is now fairly general and is about finished. Apart from some districts in central and southwestern Saskatchewan, including areas tributary to the Outlook, Colony, Maple Creek and Altaville subdivisions, where crops suffered from drought, the province will have fair average crops.

Liberal rains fell yesterday over most of the province of Alberta. A considerable amount of damage from hail was felt early in the week in areas adjacent to Standard, Chancellor, Tudor and Hunter on the Irrigation subdivision; Gleichen subdivision, with a loss from twenty-five to one hundred per cent. Wheat cutting is general in central and southern parts and in the north will begin in a week or ten days. Cutting of oats and barley has begun and rye is completed. Conditions in the province have improved owing to rain and give promise of good average yields. With those north, Red Deer best in years.

Good rains at intervals improved the crops along the Edmonton, Dugway and British Columbia Railway, but delayed cutting. There is an excellent outlook for a much better than average crop this year, and cutting is expected to begin within a week. It has continued hot and dry in British Columbia. The apple crop is good and is rising rapidly with early varieties moving. Rain is needed in most districts.

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man.—At a meeting of representatives of the Liberal and Progressive parties here, it was decided to run a fusion candidate and a nominating convention will be held shortly to select a man to contest Portage constituency against Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, premier.

The members of the Gun Club met on Wednesday last for probably the last contest until after the harvest and threshing has been completed, when arrangements will be made for a live bird contest in October.

Recall Red was an absentee, but "Mat" says that his absence was fully explained and was perfectly satisfactory.

Nels White started off by missing his first birds, but steadied down beautifully and came across with 21 out of the next twenty three shots. Leslie West, also did good work, getting 20, while Giroux, one of the youngsters steadied down and came across with 14.

Following are the scores:

THE RING

NEW YORK.—Expressing confidence that the licensing angle will offer no serious obstacle, Tex Richard predicted that the heavy-weight championship battle between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, slated for the night of September 18th at the New York American League Stadium, will attract a crowd of 80,000 and a gate of approximately $1,500,000.

These figures, which in attendance would be exceeded only by the Dempsey-Trippe, Dempsey-Carpentier and Trippe-Willard bouts, and in receipts only by the Dempsey-Carpentier affair, were based by the promoter on a price scale ranging probably from $40 to $50 down to $2 and $3, depending upon sanction of the Commission.

EPINARD NOT SOLD

PARIS.—Epinaud, Pierre Wertheimer's famous horse, that raced in the United States in 1924, soon will leave for the States to enter the stud of James Cox Brady of Lexington, Ky. Epinaud has been rented to Mr. Brady, and has not been sold.

GOLF

GOLF WEEK ORGANIZED SEPTEMBER 11th TO 18th

WINNIPEG.—Announcement is made of the list of events to be held during the first annual autumn tournament on the Jasper Park Lodge golf links from September 11 to 18 inclusive. Invitations are being extended by the committee in charge to all golf clubs on the continent and the interest shown in the tournament to date would indicate that it will be a really international competition. It is understood that the trophies and prizes will be unique and of such value that they will be highly prized by the winners.

A PRINTER'S TROUBLE

What a difference a little letter makes, and sometimes adds to the perplexities of the good-intentioned editor. Last week The Advocate desired to report the fact that Mr. Fred Vanasker was making an auto trip through the States with Mr. John A. Smith, but the typesetter added an s to Mr., and that surely made some difference. Humble apology is made to those concerned. Of course the mistake was at once apparent, but this did not lessen the opportunity for the jokers, who have since been kept busy, and that is that The Advocate is closely and widely read.

Son of Abraham Lincoln is Dead

MANCHESTER, Vt.—Robert T. Lincoln, son of Abraham Lincoln, was found dead in bed at his summer home.

Mr. Lincoln, who had served as Secretary of War, Minister to Great Britain, and for years as President of the Pullman Company, of late had been in feeble health.

With the death of Robert Todd Lincoln, the last of the Emancipator's descendants to bear the family name passes from the scene. He was the eldest of the martyred President's five children, and he outlived the others by many years. His only son, John, died many years ago while attending school in France, and his daughter is married.

Had Distinguished Career

Robert Todd Lincoln will be remembered as an able lawyer, successful Cabinet officer and dignified diplomat. He was born on August 1, 1843, in Springfield, Ill. He received his education at the University of Illinois, Phillips' Academy, Exeter, N.H., and Harvard University, from which he graduated in 1864. He served on General Grant's staff in the Virginia campaign, and was at Appomattox when General Lee surrendered.

After leaving Washington, where he was the first to give his father's definition of the victory. Following the assassination of his father, Robert undertook to manage the affairs of the family. He entered a leading law firm in Chicago and remained there until 1881. In 1881, General Grant called him to Washington, where he was the first to give his father's definition of the victory. Following the assassination of his father, Robert undertook to manage the affairs of the family. He entered a leading law firm in Chicago and remained there until 1881. In 1881, General Grant called him to Washington, where he was the first to give his father's definition of the victory.

Witnessed Three Assassinations

Robert Todd Lincoln had the unique experience of having seen three Presidents assassinated. He saw his father receive the fatal shot in Ford's Theatre; when he was acting as special counsel for the Pullman Company, and upon the death of George M. Pullman, founder, Mr. Lincoln was chosen President. In 1906 he retired from that position to become Chairman of the Board.

Should Rest With People's Representatives

The U.S.A. says Mr. King had no right to seek a dissolution of Parliament at a time when he was faced with an imminent and fully deserved vote of censure, but the right to dissolve should have been reserved to the House of Commons, not with the representative of the Crown.

Mr. Meighen was clearly not within his rights in adopting the method which he did not adopt after taking office. In the first place, it was open to him to have sought an adjournment of the House for a few weeks in order to hold the necessary by-elections, and to have completed a program of the session. What the attitude of the Liberals might have been had nothing to do with the matter. The interests of the country plainly demanded that he take this course.

As it is, he has been sacrificed an important program of legislation, to serve party ends. Mr. Meighen must bear full responsibility for the loss of the act to establish a system of Long Term Credit for farmers. For the sacrifice of this legislation no explanation has been given. This measure, like the bill to provide for the development of the Montreal Harbor Board, and another bill, had passed both Houses of Parliament and merely waiting the royal assent when Mr. Meighen advised dissolution. We know of no valid excuse for Mr. Meighen's failure to do this.

LUNNEY WILL OPPOSE BENNETT

CALGARY—Harry W. Lunney, C. Calgarey, barrister, was chosen as candidate for the federal riding of Calgary West by the Liberal party at a convention. The choice of Mr. Lunney was unanimous, as other names being placed in nomination.

Degrading Influence of Politics

By BERT HUFFMAN

From time immemorial we have been taught to respect and admire an educated man. A college or university education seemed to enwrap an individual with a sort of sacred robe. As children, we were taught to look up to and heed an educated man or woman. As grown-ups we naturally looked to such persons for right direction and honest advice.

But, how time shatters our ideal! How close association with so-called, educated people in public life lowers our respect for them and for all their supposed peers! The leaders of the two political parties in Canada are university men. They have passed through the degrees of the famous old institutions in the east. They have several letters attached to their names, denoting special degrees which they have taken. Naturally we would like to respect such men and listen to their public discussions.

But when these leaders stoop and descend to such unbecoming words as their rabid, bitter speeches indicate, we lose all our respect for an education. Instead of acting and speaking in a dignified, upright, manly manner, in their roles of leaders of two opposing elements in Canadian politics, they descend to the plane of clowning, trying to fool the public with the thinnest kind of burlesque, and making great public issues out of the cheapest, most contemptible amenities.

With university men we naturally associate books, libraries, studious habits, thoughtful expression of honest opinions, candor, sincerity and worth-while thought. Universities are supposed to turn out such men.

But when we listen to a 1926 political harangue from some so-called leader of an old party, and are nauseated with his cheap, tawdry, personal abuse of the other fellow, his late and dishonest appeal to prejudices and passions for the mere matter of securing votes, we close our eyes in disgust at the standards of our so-called educated class. They are below the level of the soap-box, street corner outland "orators" of fifty years ago.

Either our educational systems are all wrong and meaningless, or else the class of men whose financial good fortune places them in our institutions of learning are far below the old level of citizenship. At any rate we are not respecting the benefit of our educational institutions, and are constructive, statesmanlike thought from their output.

The uneducated farmer in his sincere, direct, blunt, manly speech is far above the average university man, if our political leaders are honest samples of what our universities turn out. The farmer deals with fundamentals, at least, in a many way and leaves the cheap mud-slinging, harangue, abusive bombast to the "educated" leaders in politics.

It does not present a very hopeful aspect of our future political standards to see these dishonest, misleading leaders all over the country, organizing the young people, the future voters, in the large cities, on partisan lines, instilling into the developing minds all the prejudices, passions, imbecilities and fallacies of the so-called leaders. Certainly the outlook for a better standard of political action in future is not encouraging.

It will require redoubled efforts on the part of the sane agricultural class to build up a healthy, honest, constructive national ideal to offset this political insect, miscegenation and inbreeding in the corrupt hives of the big cities.

Alberta is setting a superb example of agrarian education and sincere thought on public questions in the "University" of her T.P.A. locals. This kind of education is honest, sincere and fair. It is education by enquiry and discussion. It is not classroom stuff for the purpose of turning out an educated dummy.

But it will require redoubled work, and accelerated speed on the part of the rural communities in Alberta, in educating the young farm men and women to be intelligent citizens to offset the deterioration, decay and languor not of citizenship in the cities. One prejudiced, narrow, selfish so-called political leader with a gift for words, can lower the ideal and standard of an entire city. If he is popular he drags his admirers down to his level. They only think through his dishonest words.

Hereafter when Alberta needs a red-blooded, sane business man able to go to her farming communities to find him.

Farmer's Wives

The farmer's wife is back in the seat of the testimony showing that Herbert Kitchin is still right, after thirteen years, in his diagnosis of the danger from the farm to cities. Said he:

"My explanation of the souls of the farmers, by any other name, is the farm, and the lives of mothers, sisters, aunts, cousins, and women neighbors living, lead me to the conclusion that the drift to the city has been largely a women's movement. Just to the degree that the farmers have reached the plane of letting the wife and daughter vote on the future of the family, they have been pushed toward the city."

Isolation used to be the stock exchange of all rural social ills. Yet, since 1912, good roads, automobiles, telephones, and radios have reduced rural isolation to an amazing extent. Nevertheless, the woman is still pulling away from the land. Why? Partly to win better schooling for her children, partly to win better home-keeping facilities.

Farmers generally buy improved machinery as fast as they can; but they do not buy plumbing, dish-dish clothes washer, and other aids to better housekeeping in the same ratio. The farm dollar is too short to cover many domestic comforts and conveniences. During the war millions were frequently fixed by arbitration on the basis of thirty cents an hour for farm labor. The average working farmer is lucky to be getting that for his time today, after due allowance for other expenses. How can a thirty-cent-an-hour man buy all the wants of all the products and services of seventy-cent-an-hour men, no able or more industrious than himself?

Simply can't be done. This economic disadvantage must pass before farmers can provide their wives with the household improvements which will keep the latter satisfied with farm life.

Here is a vast market never likely to contain less than one-third of our venturing her husband, and already "new" on many sorts of household appliances now found chiefly in cities and suburbs. Give the farm more buying power and it will respond with orders, gladden a host of sales managers. The woman in the house has been converted to new methods by magazine advertising, and she is ready to respond.

For discouraged farmers and depressed farmers' wives. But these costs, mostly social and incalculable, lack the driving force of trade argument. Therefore, we ask business, which has witnessed the stimulating effect of high industrial wages upon trade, to reflect upon the flourishing trade which might be done with farmers' wives. These farmers were making the equivalent to city wages.

Mrs. R. Barr has received word of the death of her son-in-law, Dr. Ernest Finley Scott, at Batley, England. Dr. Scott was known to many in this district through Mrs. Barr, and who will regret to hear of his demise. Dr. Scott was a native of Tyrone, Ireland, and took his degree in medicine at Trinity College, England. He practiced for about twenty years in Dordrecht, Cape Colony, and Orange Free State, Africa. Later he joined the forces in France and was invalided home shell-shocked and gassed. Since that time he has been in poor health, and finally succumbed last month.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Berry, of Strathmore, and party, including their son Hugh and daughter, Mr. Harold Morgan, and her little son, Billie, were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Paul. Owing to the fast advancing heat, Mr. and Mrs. Berry, who farm extensively, had to make a hurried visit. While in Tucker Creek they were loud in their praises of the improvement of the town during the past two years, and deeply grateful and pleased with the Memorial Park, and the monument on which their son's name, Lieut. Bert Berry, appears.

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. Ashley, Wed., Aug. 18th at 3 o'clock. There will be a good program. Everyone invited to be present.

A very successful demonstration of Basketry was held in the basement of the Union Church under the direction of Mrs. Peake, a successful instructor in the Technical School of Edmonton. About 30 ladies availed themselves of the opportunity of learning how to make baskets and traps. The members will be glad to have Mrs. Peake again visit Strathmore.

Arrangements have been completed for a big Garland meeting in the Memorial Hall on Monday night, August 16th. E. J. Garland will be present, and no doubt will give a very clear presentation of the events that lead up to the dissolution of parliament.

About a hundred tourists passed through on Tuesday night enroute from Vancouver to Saskatchewan in work in the harvest fields. Only a few remained over in Strathmore.

The Alberta Government Telephones have a crew at work in this district repairing the lines south and east.

"Oh Yes! Oh Yes!" This is to give notice that Ye Old English Fair will be held in Ye Old Grounds of C. H. Patrick on August 25th, at 6 p.m.

The family made many friends during their stay of a year and a half in Drumheller and the best wishes of their friends go with them to their new home.

EGG PRODUCTION INCREASED HUNDRED MILLION DOZEN

OTTAWA, Ont.—Egg production in Canada has increased to over one hundred million dozen, or seventy per cent, since 1920, according to a Government report. This enormous volume of eggs has been consumed almost entirely in Canada as a result of the improved quality and increased consumption brought about by the application of the egg regulations. In 1920 Canadians consumed only 16.8 dozen eggs per capita, while in 1925 the per capita consumption was 26.8 dozen.

—that's why hundreds of thousands of owners are proud to own a Chevrolet. Consider the greatest achievement in Chevrolet history! Into the field of long-wheelbase cars, today's Chevrolet has brought a new type of smoothness, exactly the safety, speed, and the freedom from vibration which have been the big reasons for the buying of multi-cylinder cars. Imagine loading up a hill in a loaded car—with the motor jarring so much that you are almost unconscious of its operation. You can in the smooth Chevrolet! Imagine running from 10 to 15 miles an hour before your watch tells you time—with never a vibration of strain or labor in the motor. You can in the smooth Chevrolet!

Imagine spending at 40 to 50 miles an hour in a Chevrolet and being able to talk without raising your voice above the conversation level. You can in the smooth Chevrolet! And above all, imagine the satisfaction of driving with an amazing amount of ease. You do in the smooth Chevrolet! Let us take you for a demonstration ride in the smoothest Chevrolet in Chevrolet history in the city of the West, for which Chevrolet has been known since 1911.

STANDARD

Hail struck this district August 4th at 5 p.m. The storm lasted for one hour, and the damage was approximately ten per cent. to a strip the entire length of the district for a width varying from three to four miles.
Very small percentage of the crops destroyed were covered by insurance.
The storm passed directly through the centre of the town, breaking nearly every pane of glass facing west in both stores and dwellings, also damaging stove roofs, which caused much loss through water. The hail was driven by a terrific wind, which accounts for the severe losses suffered by many in the district. Very little grain was cut in the stricken area.
The farmers on either side of the path left by the storm are cutting their grain, and will have a fair average yield. This report was written August 5th, and is as nearly correct as it could be written with the information received up to that time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wagler and family returned from their vacation
last week.

Quite a number of people from Standard attended the Gladwin Chautauque last week. Why can't we have a Chautauque in Standard next year. We have just as large an area to draw from as Gladwin, and surely as many public spirited citizens who would be willing to act as guarantors.

Mr. Elmer Wirt paid a business trip to Calgary last week.

Messrs F. D. Knowlton and Tony Jensen attended the Sells Photo circus
in Calgary last week.

Mrs. F. D. Knowlton is spending a short holiday at Armstrong, B.C. at the home of her grandparents, Mr.
and Mrs. H. F. Young, Sr.

We wish to congratulate Peter Anderson, Bert Lee, Margaret Macdonald, Hazel Nelson and Martha Webb on successfully meeting the requirements in the Departmental examinations for Grade VII.

During the past three years eleven pupils have been successful in this examination; several of them completing two years work in one.

Attention is called to the increasing severity of the High School course, and it is hoped that all High School pupils will realize that real hard work and self sacrifice are necessary for the proper preparation for the examinations. With all High School pupils bring the official statement of marks to school on the opening day, September 2nd.

Grade VII will be in the principal's room for the coming year. Miss Martha Peden will have charge of Grades I and II.

A letter relative to the High School examinations and course of studies will appear shortly. Pupils and parents are asked to kindly take note of the content matter.

HEARD ON THE STREET

Tony McKinley tells the following story which refers to the recurring time in England during the war.

A regiment of Jews had been organized and some of the officers thought they should have a regimental name to correspond with the Gordon Highlanders, Seaforths, Buffs, etc., and the name decided upon was the Jordan Highlanders. Having decided upon the name, the next thing was to agree upon an appropriate regimental motto, which created no end of difficulty, as each officer was very enthusiastic over his own slogan. Finally one bright fellow suggested that it be: "No advance without security," which made a hit with the gang, and was adopted.

"It will be no someone without you," he whispered to a pretty little girl who had accompanied him to the station.

"And I'll miss you, too," she told him. "This week-end has been wonderful, and all because I met you yesterday."

"All aboard!" yelled the conductor. The train started to move.

"Oh dear! You've got to go," she said almost weeping. "You'll write to me soon!"

"Every day," he promised, as he dashed after the slowly moving train. "Wait a minute," he called despairingly, "what did you say your name was?"

A salesman put on his most seductive smile as the waitress glided up to his table in a Calgary dining room and remarked:

"Nice day, little one."

"Yes, it is," she replied. "And so was yesterday and my name is Ella and I know I'm a pretty girl and have blue eyes and I've been here quite a while and I like the place and don't think I'm too nice a girl to be working here."

"My wages are satisfactory and I don't think there's a show or a dance in town tonight, and if there was I wouldn't go with you anyway. I'm from the country and I'm a respectable girl and my brother is the cook in this restaurant and he was a college football player and weighs two hundred pounds."

"Last week he pretty nearly ruined a twenty-five dollar a week salesman who tried to make a date with me."

Bill Wilkinson says the same chap in his twenty-five years ago rode into town in his dad's lumber wagon and couldn't make himself heard over its rumble without a megaphone, will drive his sedan into a service shop today and raise each of the fourteen varieties of Cain because a slight squeak has developed somewhere on the way to town.

Strathmore Mother: "Look at the mess that youngster gets into. No use talking, I'll simply have to get an electric washing machine."

Youngster: "Aw, gosh, ma, it's had enough to get washed by hand, let alone having it done by machinery."

"Why wouldn't you like to be an angel, dear?"

"Cause I wouldn't know how to get my nightie on over my wings."

Tommy—"Mother, can me and Alice have some cake?"

Mother—"Not unless you ask grammatically."

"Well, then—mother, can I have some cake?"

Mrs. Newfynd (to butcher)—"What sort of joint do you think would go well with a perfect dishing of a blue and white dinner service?"

Doctor Moore: Do you suffer from thirst?

Patient: Yes, thanks! Just a small touch.

Q.P.R. Conductor—"Pardon me, madam, but your girl seems more than twelve."

Her mother (somewhat coyly)—"Conductor! would you take me to be the mother of a girl that age?"

"Lady, don't tell me you're her grandmother!"

Husband (irritably)—"Can't you remember when I put my pipe?"

Wife—"No, dear."

"Great Scott! That just shows the forgetfulness of women!"

The magistrate was hearing a case in court in which two women were concerned.

"What is your complaint against defendant?" he inquired of the plaintiff.

"Please, your worship," was the reply, "she called me a fool, and I have witnesses to prove it."

Tommy—Alice, did you tell Dad? Alice—Tell Dad what?

Tommy—Why, you know. Last night I heard you tell Bobby when he kissed you that if he did again you'd tell Dad—and he did it again I saw him.

IRATE PARENT: I'll teach you to make love to my daughter!

BRIGHT YOUNG MAN: I wish you would, sir. I'm not making any headway at all.

A woman took her daughter to a famous singer for lessons. The singer's voice was tried and the mother said: "You see, she has some time control notes, and yet she's obviously a soprano. What do you think she will become?"

"An auctioneer."

Bill—Did I appear nervous during the ceremony, Nan?

Nan—A little at first, dear, but not after Walter said "yes."

Wife (having a fit): "Anyhow you borrowed ten dollars from father the night you proposed."

Husband: Well, he looked so pleased when I asked him for you that I simply couldn't resist it!

The latest fashion is for women to wear their handkerchiefs fastened to their waists.

Harold Smith says he is dying for his best girl to develop a cold.

Fred Nye says it is very easy for one to be misunderstood. He was reading about an artist who spotted a typical London flower "girl" in Kensington High Street, and sent an emissary to negotiate a sitting. The emissary was well-meaning, but tactless, and said: "Mr. May wants you to go to his studio, and he'll give you half-sovereign." The lady was highly indignant, and it took a lot of explanations to smooth her down.

Pete Teller was telling the other evening that when he was in Aberdeen that Jack Taylor took his best girl out to have a night supper at one of the cafes. She had started her preference for a place with no orchestra, so that they could talk undisturbed. This Jack thought a fine idea. For if they talked lots, they would love him. But at the portals of the jazzier retreat he suddenly changed his mind, and hailed his lass back three-quarters of a mile to a cafe famed for its band. He had recalled that music is the food of love, and much cheaper. That boy Jack is sure a careful fellow, and knows how to save his money, said Pete.

Harold Smith, an incurable bachelor, explains that he has not married because marriage is a lottery and he always loses the law.

Tony Grogan, in covering his territory each week, has considerable spare time between trains, and has become quite a satisfied stroller; among the facts that he has been looking up he finds that averages for his money goes east, but that a chicken was at end oh dad faddah."

person will eat in that time, 120 pounds of meat and fish, 375 pounds of breadstuffs, a similar amount of potatoes, vegetables and fruits and some 20 pounds of butter and cheese. There are some 1,000,000,000 people in the world and 100,000,000 of them produce the food for the entire number.

The Lady—I gave you a piece of pie last week, and you've been sending your friends ever since.

The Tramp—You're mistaken, lady. There was my comrade.

"Do you mean to say," asked the Magistrate, "that such a physical freak as your husband gave you that black eye?"

The woman smiled proudly.

"E wasn't a physical freak, your Worship," she said, "all he gave me that black eye."

Two very pretty girls met in the street and kissed each other rapidly, only two young men watched the meeting. "There's another of those things that are so unfair," said Jean Groux.

"What is that?" asked his friend.

He pointed to the scene: "Women doing men's work."

Aggie: "When we are married I'll share all your troubles and sorrows."

Bill: "But I have none."

Aggie: "I said when we are married."

Groom: "Have you kissed the bride?"

Best Man (absently): "Oh, yes, hundreds of times."

He: "But you promised at the altar to obey me."

She: "Of course. I didn't want to make a scene."

"Children," said the Sunday school teacher, "the diligent and steadfast, and you will succeed. Take the case of George Washington. Do you remember his selling you of the great difficulty George Washington had to contend with?"

"Yes, ma'am," said a little boy.

"He couldn't tell a lie."

Wife: "I want to talk with you about some things we need for the house."

Hubby: "What are they?"

Wife: "Well, to begin with, dear, don't you think need a new dress?"

Johnny had been the guest of honour at a party the day before, and a little friend, Tommy had been hearing about it.

"Have a good time?" asked Tommy.

She: "I answered Johnny. 'I'm not hungry yet!'"

Fred Nye says that weddings often exemplify good selling on the part of the bride's family. Not that they are anxious to part with the daughter-in-law at all, but they recognize that conditions are right, that the prospective bridegroom is very desirable so they use, although they know it not, a subtle, instinctive salesmanship. The bridegroom does not yet realize that the cracking good fires her father "set" in the fireplace, and the chicken dinner mother provided were well-staged steps in a successful campaign to "make 'em want it."

Bill Tierney was relating about the death of an old friend at Ampror, but who had left a large family, and said Bill, "The worst of it is not a one of his boys has the head to fill the old man's shoes."

The young husband had arrived home to find his wife in tears.

"Whatever is the matter, darling?" he inquired.

"Oh, dearest," she sobbed, "I've worked hard all the afternoon making custards, because you are so fond of them, and—they've turned out to be sponge cakes!"

Frank Miller is liable to be assailed any day since he has been asking the question: "What is the difference between a Scotchman and a canoe," and not getting any answer, replies: "Only one."

A negro was hailed into court.

"Explain your case to this court," snarled the judge.

"Well, gen'mens, I was like dis. Mah wife, Mirandy, she buys me a new derby hat an' den she say to me, 'Tassits, dat hat would shuah look good wit' a little faddah stuck right in de ha-band.'"

"So Ah gone out an' putty soon Ah sees a fine foddah layin' on de groun' so Ah stoops an' picks it up an' as shuah as dis bleggah an' haw' was 'his money goes east, but that a chicken was at end oh dad faddah."

CANADA'S

GOVERNOR-GENERALSHIP

As the term of Lord Byng as Governor-General of Canada approaches its end this summer, rumors had multiplied as to his successor. According to current reports Lord Willingdon is to be the new Governor. It is officially stated that the Canadian government has acquiesced in the selection and that the British Government has offered him the appointment.

Lord Willingdon, whose name has been the most likely choice, was born plain Freeman Freeman-Thomas, and in 1924 first Viscount Willingdon. He was born in 1866, attended Eton and Cambridge, being Captain of the cricket eleven in both cases, married in 1893 Marie Adelaide, daughter of the late Lord Brassey, and his heir is Hon. Inigo Brassey Freeman-Thomas. His interest in Canadian affairs was manifested last year when he was one of those chiefly instrumental in urging the town council of Hastings, England, of which he is a freeman, to restore to the city of Quebec the ancient escutcheon of the kings of France, which had been taken away from over the gate of the city by the soldiers of General Murray at the time of the conquest in 1759.

When in Canada this year he was on his way to China as head of the Chinese Indemnity Fund Committee which was going to China to arrange for the return by the British Government of the Boxer Indemnity, amounting to some $11,000,000. —By John R. Bone, in the Boston Transcript.

SLANG

The following quotation from Professor Schelling in Winter Topics, has special significance for Canadians. We are inclined to lament the decline of our speech because so many words and phrases of foreign extraction and so many modifications in pronunciation and usage of ordinary words have recently come into being owing to the influence of the foreign-born. Yet if newcomers modify our speech they also enrich it. So to it is often regretted that people take expressions from one field of activity and transfer them to another. This is in the main the origin of figures of speech. Many slang expressions originate "in the same way. They are not of necessity derogating to the language. They may possibly be a means of enrichment. The thing to be avoided is not slang, but slanginess—not the slang word but the slang attitude. The person who tries to use the latest word, sing the latest song, take part in the latest dance, just because these are new, or "cute" is lost. Yet slang phrases properly employed have a value. Says Professor Schelling:

"As to slang, it is the one certain evidence that a language is still alive, for slang is the language of the people in the making. Moreover, a picturesque slang is a safeguard against propriety, which—pace to the clergy—has little more than inarticulate speech seeking utterance in explosion. Mechanical ingenuity has timed and regulated exploding into powerful motive force. Let all grammarians, logicians, and supporters of foreign teachings know that English is not a degenerate offshoot of the old Teutonic stock, "a base dialect gabbled by pirates in their depredations on the high seas," as one of our late members politely put it. English is the free, masterful, adaptable speech of a free, masterful, adaptable people who are destined to rule the world, not because they are brute conquerors, but because they are the leaders of the world into the day light of a true democracy."

URBAN LOCATION

PREFERRED FOR MANUFACTURING PLANTS

Following up the suggestion made by the Standard that possibly something might be done to secure the location of some industry in Strathmore, which, up to the present has apparently fallen upon deaf ears.

The following article from the Financial Post may suggest some possibilities to some of our readers: one thing sure none will locate here without some effort being made.

Is the effort worth while? Where shall we locate our new plant—in the city or not? This is the very important problem that is facing many manufacturers today. There is an impression that the motor truck has so revolutionized transportation that locating a manufacturing plant is quite a different problem from what it was a decade ago—that even real estate values have been effected by it.

A leading manufacturer stated to

THE STORE OF PERSONAL SERVICE

The Financial Post that he regretted having built his plant in the centre of Toronto, and that if he were building again he would go to one of the suburban districts where he could get more space. It was his impression that while the price of retail establishments had advanced in the very centre of the city, the price of manufacturing and warehouse sites within a general area of one or two miles of the centre of the city had declined. On the other hand, another firm who have a plant in one of the suburbs state that they should have acquired property in the city.

Was the first manufacturer right in his premise that the value of manufacturing properties had declined because of the reason suggested? He doubtfully the real estate in connection with sites for manufacturing plants has been dead for some time in many of the cities. This usually is attributed to the general lack of business expansion—an explanation probably nearer the truth than the one suggested.

In certain of the more highly developed industrial countries, there has been a definite movement to decentralize industry—to locate industries or branches of industries outside the urban centres rather than increasing the congestion of the larger cities and paying higher prices for real estate. In sections of the United States this movement has gained some momentum, but it is not yet a factor in the Canadian situation. There is one big factor which must always be considered and that is the labor supply. Where unskilled labor is employed in large numbers, it has been found that settlements can be built up in outlying districts.

GERSHAW, LIBERAL IN MEDICINE HAT

MEDICINE HAT—Dr. F. W. Gershaw was the unanimous choice of the Liberals to contest this riding at their convention held in the Old Police's hall. The convention was representative of the whole district, and was well attended, the gathering being round after round of applause when the doctor took his seat along with Hon. Charles Stewart on the platform.

EAST EDMONTON U.F.A. WILL NOT TIE UP WITH LABOR

EDMONTON—No candidate will be placed in the field by the U.F.A. Federal association of East Edmonton, nor will they cooperate with any of the other three parties in this contest. This was decided upon at a well attended meeting of the executive.

Expressions of dissatisfaction with the change of constituency boundaries which placed 1,200 farmers in a city riding last fall, were again voiced. That the farmer three parties in this franchise thereby was the contention, and several said that as there was no hope of electing their men, they would not vote at all.

CHURCH TO RUN AGAIN

TORONTO—Thomas Langton Church, seven times mayor of Toronto and member for Toronto Northwest in the house of commons since 1921 is the unanimous choice of the Conservatives of the riding to contest the approaching election campaign.

GRAIN PRICES
WINNEPEG GRAIN
 WINNEPEG, Aug. 11—A fairly good export trade was reported over night and again yesterday morning with a better inquiry for new crop wheat combined with considerable covering. Good the local market a strong tone yesterday. Prices made substantial gains, closing 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 higher with October at 14 1/2, December at 14 1/2,
 and May at 14 1/2.
 There was not much pressure on the market, although the wheat pool were credited with being fair sellers during the advances. The offerings were well absorbed. At the high point of the day the October future sold at 14 1/2.
 The course grain markets were firmer, largely in sympathy with wheat. The flax market was firm, prices advancing 1 1/2. Trade, however was small.
